Washington trip 'rewarding'

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart has brought back from Washington, D.C., some good news following a meeting of public officials with Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District).
During his stay in the nation's capital, Stewart learned that the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) had approved the city's $1.48 million "closing out" grant for Romulus' urban renewal program on Beverly Road east of Wayne Road.

"The grant means that the city can pay off all its obligations for the program, and save some $12,000 per month in interest which has been paid for the urban renewal program," Stewart said. "Romulus actually wins twice in this, since the city not only is out from under the interest payment, but also becomes 'owner' of 275 parcels of land which will be developed for housing."
"The ownership of the land allows the city some control over the type of development which goes into the area, to insure that it doesn't become blighted as in the past."

Stewart said the request for the funding had been pending for several months and was approved just five days prior to the annual visit by public officials in Ford's 15th Democratic District.
According to Stewart the visit proved "informative and valuable for the city" since every session "had something of importance to the City of Romulus."
Highlight of the meeting, according to Stewart, was a meeting with representatives of the U.S. Postal Service, including Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar.

"It was during that meeting that I discovered that the Postmaster General was not directly aware of the postal problems we are having in Romulus," Stewart said. "I guess you could say I dominated that meeting in pointing out where the service was deficient in Romulus."

Stewart said he complained in particular about the recent move of carrier scheduling from the Romulus Post office branch to the larger Taylor Post office located on Goddard Road two miles east of the Romulus boundary with Taylor.
Although Stewart did not receive any promises that the present set-up would be changed back to the original scheduling scheme, Stewart said that the Postmaster General now had an intimate knowledge of Romulus' problems, and of how the postal change affects the community.

Stewart said the switch to a five-quarter budgeting system in Michigan is helping the city to continue to receive Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds from the Federal government, with Washington agreeing to fund the CETA employment program from June 30 this year until Sept. 30. The funds were scheduled to be cut off at the end of June without the formal extension.

Funds are used to hire numerous city workers in Romulus.
In addition, Stewart said he received word from Ford that Congress would approve extending the revenue sharing concept, possibly as long as five years.

"The congressman informed me that although there were moves to change the formula, it apparently, won't be changed this time around," Stewart said. "I guess I had something to do with changing even Congressman Ford's mind on the need to change the allocation formula, since I spoke out against it when the Congressman informed me he was in favor of changing the allocation arrangement."

"I'm afraid the change would have harmed Romulus, rather than helped it."
Stewart said his "inside information" indicated that Congress may make some attempts to change some minor portions of the bill, but that the overall revenue sharing concept would be extended.

There was a threat earlier in the year of revenue sharing dying during this election year as Democratic and Republican forces vied for "credit" of the concept.

Early in the debate on revenue sharing, Democratic congressmen indicated they favored a concept which would place more restrictions on the way the money is spent, while Republicans held out for the concept first approved by President Richard Nixon of sending money to communities without stringent requirements for its use.

Krause leads tax-sharing fight

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

The assessor for the City of Romulus has been charged with "stirring up" interest in a movement against the so-called "tax base sharing act".

David Krause, city assessor for approximately six months in Romulus, has been rallying opposition among his colleagues against a bill which would permanently deprive a community of 50 percent of its growth value starting next year.

"The bill is a thinly disguised effort to help the City of Detroit," declared Krause. "Of the seven counties which are to be involved in the base sharing, if the bill is approved, only Wayne County comes out ahead in terms of money it receives.

"And of the cities involved, Detroit comes out the farthest ahead in receiving funds."

Under the proposal, commercial and industrial growth in the Counties of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair would be split on a 50-50 basis between the community where new business locates and all communities in the 7-county area.

Communities in the area would receive their share of the taxable growth in industry and commerce based on a formula involving each community's state equalized value and its population.

"The problem with the plan is that Detroit, which now operates with more money per person than any community in Michigan, receives the most funds per person under the formula," Krause said. "The sharing the wealth is pointed at only that community."

Krause said that estimates prepared by the Michigan State Bureau of Taxation, based on growth during the past three years in the 7-county area, showed that Romulus would have lost better than $1 million in taxable value.

"Romulus needs the funds coming in through the growth, but stands to be deprived of them because of this plan," Krause said. "I'm afraid it's a poorly disguised attempt by the powers of the area to point toward regional government."

"Both Gov. William Milliken and the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) have endorsed the plan."

"But there are many problems associated with it."

Krause explained that communities build their public utilities such as the water and sewer systems, and in some cases, road systems, with borrowed money. The amount the community borrows is often dictated by the projected growth in the community.

"If half the tax base is taken away in the future, what happens to the community's debts?" Krause wondered.

"There are too many problems with this, just as there were with the single business tax approved by the legislature," Krause said. "The tax may have helped some businesses but provisions in the bill didn't compensate school districts for the loss in revenue, so the voters are being asked to raise taxes."

"I'd sure like to see us avoid a situation akin to that with this new proposal, and the best way to do it is to arouse the public and make them aware of what is happening."

Diesel dedication tomorrow

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart and Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) are the top elected dignitaries who will mark the official opening tomorrow of the nearly 800,000-square-foot Detroit Diesel Allison Division parts manufacturing plant in Romulus. Ceremonies will begin at 10:30 a.m.

The dedication also will commemorate the construction of the 2-millionth diesel engine by the Allison division's Redford Assembly Plant.

Located at 36880 Ecorse Road, Romulus, the plant is capable of producing enough parts to increase Detroit Diesel's engine production by 25 percent over the 130,000 engines manufactured last year.

Ford had speculated several years ago when the plant was first proposed for construction, that Detroit Diesel could provide as many as 2,500 jobs in the Western Wayne County area.

Smith Jr., vice-president in charge of the power and appliance group, and James E. Knott, vice-president and general manager.

Following the dedication, the Romulus plant, as well as all other Allison Division plants in the Detroit area, will be open to the public.

Open house hours for Romulus' newest manufacturing plant, said to be the most modern manufacturing facility in Michigan, will be from 1 to 8 p.m. tomorrow and from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday.

The parts storage warehouse on the Detroit Diesel property in Romulus will be open for the same hours.

The Allison Division plant in Romulus represents what could be as much as a $100 million "first installment" in the community. When first announced three years ago during the Terry L. Trout administration, officials estimated that the investment in the community could be as much as triple during the next 10 years, and that employment at the Diesel facility would move up to better than 5,000.

Special Olympics highlight lineup

Festival and Fairs mark June in State

Western Wayne County residents won't have to look outside of the state for enjoyment this month, when festivals, fairs, the Special Olympics, antique shows, baseball, fishing and other "go, see and do" events open up the summer season.

An inspiring event, with rewarding dividends for spectators as well as participants, takes place Thursday through Saturday at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant. The Michigan Special Olympics for "exceptional" athletes from 8 years to adult ages will offer many thrilling moments in a variety of sports events. Athletic competitions will include track and field action, swimming, basketball and gymnastics.

The Detroit Ethnic Festival program gets underway in full force this month, with a total of 19 festivals scheduled every weekend through Sept. 19. The festivals are held on the riverfront west of Cobo Hall in Detroit, between Sixth and Eighth streets. June's schedule opens with the Far Eastern contingent this weekend followed by the German Festival, June 11-13; Italian, June 18-20; Slovak, June 25-27; and June 26-27 the French will be holding forth on the Kern Block.

Ethnic Festival programs are not confined to Detroit. Yack Arena in Wyandotte is the center for a German Festival this weekend; Hungarian Festival, June 11-13; and an International Festival, June 18-20. And Southgate will host a German-American Festival in the Civic Center on June 26-27.

Somewhat of a "youngster" on the Michigan festival scene, but growing rapidly, is the Asparagus Festival on June 11-13 at Hart-Shelby. Farm tours, parades and an asparagus smorgasbord are a few of the activities on the agenda. Michigan, incidentally, ranks third in the nation in the production of the succulent green spears.

Another younger member, but extremely popular, is the National Soaring and Hang Gliding Festival on June 19-27 at Frankfort. A number of activities are scheduled in addition to the excitement of watching those "making like birds."

Several "old timers" also have reservations during the mid-year month beginning with the Jackson County Rose Festival on June 5-13 in Jackson. The festival — along with the Bavarian Festival — received recognition by the U.S. Travel Service and Discover America Travel Organizations as top events in the nation for June.

An occasion equally fragrant is the Lilac Festival on Mackinac Island on June 12-13. Many of the bushes were brought to the Island by the French some 200 years ago and today there are more than 100 different varieties.

"Gemuetlichkeit" is a word you'll hear often during the second full week of the month — June 13-19 — in Frankenmuth when it will be Bavarian Festival Time. Polka bands, parades, plump knackwurst and metwurst served with homemade German bread and foamy steins of Frankenmuth-brewed beer with fresh from the oven, homemade pretzels are only a few of the delights that await festival visitors.

Flash-backs of America's early fight for life come June 19-20 when hundreds of costumed sharpshooters armed with their muzzle loading weapons muster for the Muzzle Loaders Festival at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. The annual presentation also will include Revolutionary vs. Civil War cannon competition, marching bands and special craft displays that recreate frontier days.

Bicentennially speaking, Greenfield Village opens their Menlo Park Centennial exhibit June 23. The exhibit will run through Nov. 7 and traces the development of three of Edison's most significant Menlo Park inventions from conception to their ultimate contemporary use. On June 26, the Greenfield Village Players bring back the lazy days of summers past with the opening of the Old Time Summer Festival which will continue through Sept. 6.

The West Michigan Seaway Festival, June 26-July 10 at Muskegon and the Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival, June 27-July 4 are two more familiar happenings in the Great Lake state.

If you are an admirer of fine horseflesh, you'll enjoy the All

Arabian Horse Show on June 11-13 at the Ingham County Fairgrounds, Mason, and for the "fair-minded" June offers the Oakland County Fair, and the Warren City Fair on June 16-20; "Sloan Museum Summer Fair" at the Sloan Museum in Flint on June 27, and the Community Fair in Riverview Park in Flushing on June 30-July 5.

In the way of "vintage" events there's the Michigan Antique Festival on June 5-6 in Saginaw and the Antiques Market in Ann Arbor on June 20.

That by no means completes the list of things to do scheduled for June in Michigan. For a complete list, as well as a look at what's ahead during the summer months, write for a free copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events to the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, 300 South Capitol Avenue, Lansing 48913.

Canning seminar slated

The Wayne county Cooperative Extension Service 4-H Foods Developmental Committee will sponsor a home canning workshop from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Saturday at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds on Qjirk Road in Van Buren Township.

The home economist from Wayne County will give the demonstration and answer questions about home canning.

Confirmation has been given the Bicentennial Commission on floats to be entered by the City of Belleville, the Kelsey Hayes Corp., the Belleville Area Lions Club, the Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club, the Belleville IOOF and Rebeckas, Lemontree Apartments and the Suburban Estates Teen Club.

In addition, police cars, fire trucks, antique cars and The Glass Gathering, a local Corvette sports car club, will participate.

Marching units will include the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps, the Dearborn Heights Brigadier Brass and Drum Corps, the Allen Park Seaway Strutters, the Pace-setters Musical Corps, the Riverview Veterans of Foreign Wars Praesidium Color Guard, the U.S. Marine Corps Color Guard, the Belleville Post 4434 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Romulus Post 9568 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Mapleairs, an all-women Canadian Drum Corps from Chatam, Ont.

Also invited to march, but not confirming the engagement are all area school bands.

Trophies will be offered for the best-decorated bicycle and pulled wagon entered by children 5 to 10 years of age.

Children interested in the competition should contact George Heifner of 41527 Edison Lake Road, Belleville 48111 by mail, or should call him at 697-7560 after 5 p.m.

The goal of this year's parade, which is organized for the second consecutive year by Heifner, is total involvement.

Said Heifner: "The committee wants everyone, young and old, to join our community's celebration of our nation's 200th birthday.

"The list of participants we have by no means indicates that the parade is completely firmed up. New requests are being received everyday, but we're always looking for more people to make this year's effort the "biggest and best" this community has ever seen."

Reunion Planners

Graduates of the classes of the 1950s at Romulus Senior High School will be gathering for one large reunion, under a plan being organized by 11 representatives of the classes. Handling planning for the gigantic reunion are Mary Ann Banks, Class of 1950 (front row, from left); Loretta Renke, Class of 1951; Sylvia Dubisky, Class of 1952; Alice Seirota, Class of 1953; Elsie McIntosh, Class of 1954; Brenda Menhardt, Class of 1955; Joanne Hopson, Class of 1956; Tony Kopas, Class of 1957 (back row, from left); Tom Hopson, Class of 1958; Stewart McLeod, Class of 1959, and Carol Blackburn, Class of 1960. Citizens to discuss Willow Run

The Concerned Citizens on Willow Run Airport, largely a Van Buren Township citizens organization, will be holding a meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 9 at the Van Buren Township Hall.

The group will discuss the options open to citizens to stop expansion of the Willow Run Airport.

Said Concerned Citizens spokesman George Roberts: "This issue is crucial to the community, and the people should be stirred up over it more than they area."

"The talk is for a millage approval to obtain local control over Willow Run, and I'm firmly for that."

Roberts added that because of his involvement in the Concerned Citizens, he had been asked to run for township office, but said: "This airport matter is far more important to me than seeking a township office."

"I will not run this year."

All area residents are invited to attend the meeting. Expected to be there are citizens of Ypsilanti Township and Canton Township as well as some public officials from both communities and from Van Buren Township.

Rep. Brown introduces bills that would amend HCMA

Two pieces of legislation that would amend the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) Act have been introduced by Representative Thomas H. Brown. One bill is designed to meet various concerns, including the problem of transportation to the parks, which were voiced by citizens and government officials during a series of five public hearings conducted last year by a special House committee created to study the five-county regional park authority.

The other proposal would permit possible expansion of the Authority into two additional southeastern Michigan counties, St. Clair and Monroe, if voters in the existing five member counties and in the two proposed additional counties, both approved.

"There are very few persons who would disagree that the HCMA park authority has done an outstanding job over the past 35 years and has established a regional park system which has earned a national reputation for excellence and innovative and efficient management," Brown said.

"I think the people in St. Clair and Monroe counties would be wise to seriously consider joining such an organization and enjoy the benefits that such membership would bring to them."

Branch office is open

It was erroneously reported in last week's edition of The Belleville Enterprise that the Belleville Secretary of State's office would be closed for the entire summer.

The story should have said that the Secretary of State's branch would be closed on Saturdays between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

The office is located at High Street and Columbia Street in Belleville.

The Belleville Enterprise apologizes for any inconvenience the error may have caused.

Romulus, Belleville join suit

Romulus and Belleville are among the 53 suburbs that have joined in a lawsuit against the City of Detroit in an attempt to halt the recently enacted 39 percent increase in water rates.

Each of the communities has agreed to pay a per capita share of legal fees to challenge Detroit's action. The suit has been filed in Oakland County Circuit Court and charges that Detroit has proven the need for the increase.

Boom benefit

The Van Buren Township Recreation Department was the recipient of some benefits from the township's recent building boom when the Bank of the Commonwealth donated free of charge its former mobile banking headquarters, which once was located near Belleville Road and the I-94 freeway. The bank building was moved to the Van Buren Township baseball diamonds located on Beck Road near Beckley Road for use as on-site office space for both the recreation department and the Van Buren Township Little League, which uses the diamonds.—ANP photo.

Indian influence on Michigan reflected in all aspects of life

The Indian influence on the state of Michigan is reflected in all aspects of our life. Our cars, school nicknames and town names bear the heritage left behind by the state's first occupants. In the third part of Michigan Department of Natural Resources Bicentennial feature, David A. Armour, assistant superintendent of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, takes a look at one Indian, Matchekewis — Bad Bird of the Chippewas.

When one talks about great Indian leaders in Michigan's past, the names of Pontiac and Tecumseh readily come to mind. Although Matchekewis (or Bad Bird) became a respected war chief by his mid-20s, something he did in 1763 is more apparent among history readers than his name.

He was the Chippewa chief who carried out the surprise attack on the British garrison at Fort Michilimackinac on June 2, 1763, by catching the soldiers off guard while deceptively playing a ball game similar to lacrosse.

Matchekewis' profile is an interesting one. Born on the west shore of Lake Huron in 1735, he was called Kaigwaidosa as a young man. He was large and tall and weighed more than 200 pounds — huge in those days.

In 1763 when Pontiac attacked Detroit and summoned the Chippewa to attack Fort Michilimackinac, Matchekewis welcomed the opportunity to drive out the British.

Working closely with Chief Minavavana, who bitterly hated the English but was too old to lead an assault, Matchekewis planned the capture of the palisaded trading post.

Charles Langlade, a local French trader, warned Capt. George Etherington of the expected attack, but after interviewing Matchekewis, the British commandant paid no heed to the warning.

Consequently, he suspected nothing on the morning of June 2, 1763, as he stood outside the walls of the fort watching Matchekewis and his Chippewa warriors vigorously engage a band of Sac in a game of baggatiway, or lacrosse.

Suddenly, Matchekewis threw the ball over the pickets of the fort. As the Indians rushed into the fort to retrieve the ball, waiting squaws handed them weapons concealed beneath their blankets.

Within a few minutes the English garrison was killed or captured and Matchekewis and his braves controlled the fort. After holding the fort for several days Matchekewis apparently departed to assist Wasson and the other Saginaw Chippewas in the siege of Detroit.

One of the traders captured at Michilimackinac, Alexander Henry, was ransomed and protected by the Chippewa Wawatam. In May of the following year while still a prisoner, Henry encountered Matchekewis at Sault Ste. Marie.

The Chief, bitter at the English, planned to kill Henry or take him to Detroit. However, Jean Baptiste Cadot, a trader of great influence at the Sault whose Chippewa wife was related to Matchekewis, interceded and Henry was not harmed.

Sometime during the next few years, Matchekewis, unlike Minavavana, accommodated himself to the English. Indian tradition recounts that he was taken as a captive to Quebec and imprisoned for a while. Upon his release he was given a medal, a flag, and other presents and returned from prison with great honor.

Matchekewis found it profitable to cooperate with the British for on June 1, 1770, he, with his young men, came to Michilimackinac to have their guns repaired.

The commandant, George Turnbull, gave them rum, tobacco, vermilion and powder and presented Matchekewis with a small wampum belt, a shirt and a hat.

During the winter of 1770-71 Matchekewis was again imprisoned, but on April 12, 1771, sometime after his release, he was given a number of presents "to wash away his tears." During the next few years Matchekewis came several times each summer to Michilimackinac to have his guns and hatchets mended by the fort's blacksmith and to receive rum, tobacco and other gifts.

Matchekewis and his band apparently wintered in the Thunder Bay or Saginaw area and spent their summers at Cheboygan near Michilimackinac or hunting on Lake Superior.

On July 4, 1777, at Pays Platte on the north side of Lake Superior, trader John Long encountered Matchekewis. The chief took a fancy to the Chippewa-speaking trader and adopted him as a brother. Shortly thereafter, Matchekewis' band must have left for the east for in later years he claimed to have accompanied General John Burgoyne's ill-fated expedition that ended in disaster at Saratoga, N.Y.

During the years of the American Revolution, Matchekewis became a close friend and ally of Maj. Arant Schuyler DePeyster, commandant at Michilimackinac. By 1779 he was so firmly committed to the British that when one of his band refused to go on a war party, he tore the King's medal from the breast of the warrior and returned it to Michilimackinac.

The British at Michilimackinac and Detroit sorely needed Indian allies to protect them from the expected attack by the victorious American forces of George Rogers Clark. Matchekewis was dispatched to Detroit to encourage the Indians there, and then hurried back to participate at the great Council at L'Arbre Croche on July 4, 1779.

Following that conference, Matchekewis and 10 of his band accompanied Lt. Thomas Bennett to Fort St. Joseph at Niles to secure the support of the Potawatomies.

Returning to Michilimackinac by a British sailing vessel, he was sent off to the Illinois country to harass the rebels. As compensation for his services, Matchekewis was given a log house which was moved over the ice from Michilimackinac to Cheboygan.

During the early months of 1780 the new commandant at Michilimackinac, Lt. Gov. Patrick Sinclair, organized a major attack on the Spanish village of St. Louis.

Spain recently had declared war on England and due to a long-standing English-Spanish rivalry for control of the Mississippi and Missouri Valley's fur trade, many traders eagerly joined the expedition. Sinclair particularly was pleased on March 10, 1780, when the "noted chief" Matchekewis consented to accompany Sgt. J. F. Phillips of the King's Eighth Regiment.

On May 26, 1780, the British and Indian force numbering nearly 1,000 struck St. Louis, but were unable to capture the fortified town. Reeling in defeat, the English attackers split up and Matchekewis joined Charles Langlade's group which retreated with their prisoners by way of the Illinois River.

Business tax sharing to harm out-county

Detroit's financial gain could mean a severe economic blow to other Wayne County communities, if pending state legislation on the redistribution of business property taxes becomes state law, one county commissioner has warned.

Royce Smith, commissioner of Western Wayne County's 26th District, has come out in opposition to House Bill 6010, a bill which would consolidate seven southeast Michigan counties in a single tax district for the purpose of sharing 50 percent of local business property taxes from new commercial and industrial development.

However, according to Smith, while all communities would be chipping into the "tax pool," the return to each governmental unit would be based on population and need as determined by the state.

"This is nothing more than a bail-out for the City of Detroit," Smith added. "The bill purports to establish tax-base sharing districts, but in reality it's another tax give-away plan for Detroit, which already has received millions from the state."

Smith in attacking the bill is urging an all-out citizen campaign to defeat it.

"It's about time we put a stop to these tax gifts for Detroit just because it's a big city and can make a lot of noise about its needs," he added.

The commissioner went on to say that other communities are financially strapped and equally concerned about maintaining services to citizens and encouraging business expansion.

"The proponents of this bill are like Bonnie and Clyde wearing white hats," he added. "This plan seriously would undermine our local tax base, our autonomy and our ability to grow without facing a tax penalty."

Under the tax base proposal the first district would be composed of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Monroe, St. Clair and Washtenaw counties. However, Smith warned that if the plan becomes law, the regional district set-up would spread to other areas of the state at the expense of the smaller, less populated communities.

The legislation would permit a county to withdraw from the plan by a majority vote of its board of commissioners within one year after the establishment of the district. After that time limit, it would require a two-thirds vote.

Smith, who was the mayor of Belleville before being elected to the county board, said his former community has come out against the bill and is urging other governmental units to pass similar resolutions.

The commissioner also has written officials in the cities of Wayne, Westland and Plymouth and the townships of Sumpter, Van Buren, Canton, Plymouth and Northville about the proposal.

Collegians honored for academic work

Several collegians from the Belleville-Romulus community have been named to the dean's lists at their respective colleges, based on their academic achievements.

At Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo three local residents were named to the honor roll. Belleville students Robin Hook of Savage Road and Frank Horton of Denton Road joined Romulus coed

Gail Randall of Superior Street on the list. Miss Randall collected perfect marks for the winter semester at the college.

At Baylor University in Waco, Tex., Cynthia Hook of Sage Road, a senior majoring in music education, was named to the dean's academic honors list for fall 1975. Miss Hook is a 1972 graduate of Belleville High School.

Congressman says:

Humphrey-Hawkins bill no panacea

To the editor:
During the past month, considerable attention has focused on the guaranteed Federal job program proposed by Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Congressman Gus Hawkins. Most of this coverage has missed an important point: there are alternatives.

Not until the level of public consciousness is raised on the issue of real jobs creation will Congress debate it as a choice between competing policy alternatives. Political choice and most certainly political leadership are constrained not just by the conditions that exist in a constituency but also by people's awareness of alternatives.

Unfortunately, people generally are not aware of alternatives to high unemployment except public service and public works bills. Until they know that there are private sector jobs-creating alternatives to measures like the Humphrey-Hawkins bill, not just in principle but also in the form of legislation, unemployment cannot become a political issue and be resolved. Until the alternatives are known, the Humphrey-Hawkins measure is "the only show in town," despite laudable editorials pointing out the defects of the measure.

It is my belief that too many people and too many congressmen fail to understand that public service jobs have to be paid for in real terms just like anything else.

To pay for them out of taxes or borrowing from the private sector just transfers resources out of other activities into public service activities. To pay for them by inflating the money supply transfers purchasing power from the general population to those employed in the newly created public service jobs.

Congressmen do not address the questions of what producing and investing activities they are prepared to sacrifice in order to have more public service activities and whether they are prepared to inflict inflation on the general population in order to help a few. Whether it is tax and spend, borrow and spend, or inflate and spend, it consumes capital at the expense of the nation's economic potential and the working man and woman's living standard.

It is clear to me that the long-run and short-term answers to unemployment lie in higher rates of private savings and investment and in the elimination of government budget deficits, the financing of which results in government-generated business cycles of boom or bust.

This means that there must be fundamental changes in government taxing and spending policies and that government cannot continue to increase its share of the economy's resources without destroying the capital necessary to finance new jobs and energy, housing, mass transit, environmental and defense needs.

The Jobs Creation Act, which I have introduced with 103 co-sponsors would greatly increase employment in the private sector by reducing the existing tax bias against savings and investment. People have been cheated out of productive, long-term employment by the government transferring funds out of savings and investment into current consumption. The problem is that the liberal Democrats want to address the unemployment problem by continuing the very policy that has caused the unemployment in the first place, the very policy which gave the world a nearly bankrupt Great Britain, and which gave America a bankrupt New York City.

During a period when national income has increased by $159 billion from $622 billion in 1966 to $1,141 billion in 1974, corporate profits declined both absolutely and as a percentage of national income. The Commerce Department's Benchmark Revision of the national income and product accounts shows that after-tax corporate profits with inventory valuation and capital consumption adjustments have fallen from $48.9 billion in 1966 to $38.7 billion in 1974. In percentage terms, after-tax profits have fallen from 7.9 percent of national income in 1966 to 3.4 percent in 1974.

Retained earnings have fallen from $29.4 billion in 1966 to $7.6 billion in 1974. Furthermore, if the profits earned by American corporations abroad are omitted and only the retained earnings from domestic operations are considered, then in 1974 adjusted corporate retained earnings were a negative figure of -$2.3 billion. That is, on their domestic earnings, American corporations in 1974 paid out more in taxes and dividends than they earned.

The trend in profits continued downward through 1975. Before-tax profits have fallen from 13.3 percent of national income in 1966 to 8.4 percent in 1975. After-tax profits have fallen from 7.9 percent of national income in 1966 to 4.5 percent in 1975.

Business cannot invest in the expanded plant and modern tools and equipment which are necessary to provide a growing number of well-paid jobs when retained earnings are so low. Unfortunately, the Democratic-controlled Congress focuses on unemployment measures that continue the existing tax bias against saving and investment. They see it as good politics to take an anti-business posture, but in reality they are punishing workers by holding down the productivity of labor and, thereby, real wages, while also undermining our competitive position in international markets.

Because of misinformation about "tax breaks for fat cats," curing unemployment by encouraging production is a tough bullet to bite. More congressmen will more readily bite the bullet the more the public is aware that there are constructive and superior alternatives to the government spending approach to unemployment.

The press can make a valuable contribution to this increased awareness by giving coverage to pro-jobs legislation that works through encouraging production.

Sumpter groups lauded for aid

To the Editor:
I would like to publicly thank the Polish National Alliance (PNA) and the Sumpter Social Civic Club (SSCC) on behalf of the Sumpter Township Bicentennial Committee for their generous donations to our committee.

It is so nice to know that, in a small township such as ours, there are people who really care and are willing to help us financially, so we can put on a parade, fireworks and other activities for our special Sumpter Day July 17.

There has been a lot of hard work put into this program since the first of the year. Without the tireless work of many of our members, this program would have been impossible to do.

I would like to encourage more members of our township to join with us in this Bicentennial year to make it an even bigger and better day. We hope you will give a little of your time to help us in or last days of planning.

Remember, the more people that help us in this program, the bigger it will be. Our meetings are on the first and third Thursdays of each month at the Community Building at Sumpter and Wear Roads at 8 p.m. On behalf of the Committee, I say thanks again, PNA and SSCC.

Hadyniaks remembered by school employees

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was written to the family of John Hadyniak by one of Hadyniak's employees at the Romulus Board of Education after the tragic death of 2-year-old Craig Hadyniak:
To the Hadyniak Family:

A candle flickers in the night in loving memory of a life taken prematurely. A life not long enough to taste the bittersweet, experience, the joys and sorrows of living.

With all its majesty and brilliance, life is cruel, indiscriminate, not caring for the feelings of others, asking no quarter and giving none in return, leaving only grief and wondering in its wake. Memories of the pain drift away in silence; happy times all the little experiences of joy will be remembered. Curse God Almighty for taking him away, but loving him just the same.

This one little life is ended and for the parents a piece of life has left them as well, but like a ship in a storm, a safe harbor waits in time to come.

State representative joins 'legal' tax revolt

To the editor:

The first legal tax revolt in Michigan history has started and I am adding my voice to the other taxpayer rebels. I am one of 68 members of the Michigan Legislature who are supporting a non-partisan petition drive to put a proposed constitutional amendment on the November ballot. This amendment would limit state government taxing and spending ability to no more than its current level of 8.3 percent of the total personal income in Michigan. This would include personal income taxes, business taxes, sales taxes, and any other types of taxes or revenues generated by the State of Michigan. The amendment would prohibit further tax increases without a vote of the people.

Between 1960 and 1975, state government spending increased more than six times, and at the present rate, will increase another six times by 1988! In the 1962-63 fiscal year budget, the Legislature appropriated $12.5 million dollars. In 1975-76, the amount appropriated was 3 billion, 53 million dollars.

As if the Michigan resident's tax burden wasn't high enough already, I now hear rumblings from some legislators and special interest groups that we need additional tax increases. Senators Allen (R-Alma) and Nelson (D-Lansing) have introduced a bill to raise the personal income tax rate from 4.6 percent to 6.6 percent. Other legislators are saying that since the rate of the new Michigan Single Business Tax is only 2.35 percent, we should raise that instead!

There may be no end in sight unless the taxpayers themselves take action to put a constitutional ceiling on state taxing power. If we fail to take this opportunity, the special interest groups in Lansing will continue to force our tax burdens higher and higher. They will continue to force businesses and jobs out of the state.

Whether you are Democrat, independent, or Republican, if you believe the State of Michigan should live on a fixed income the same as every family must do, this is your chance to make your voice heard. More than 300,000 petition signatures will be needed to put the proposed amendment on the November ballot, but less than one-third of the required signatures have been returned. We need your help. Write to your own legislator or to me at the State Capitol, Lansing, Michigan 48901, and tell us how many petitions you want sent to you. The petitions must be returned, fully completed or not, before the end of June.

News article is extolled

To the editor:
I just want to say "roses" should go to your great Maureen Rademacher for her article on handicapped parking.

I am handicapped myself so I can speak on a first-hand basis of trying to park where I know there is parking for the handicapped and having to go home because all handicapped parking was taken. This situation was particularly bad in the winter time.

Maybe these people who park in handicapped places will understand our plight someday if they break a leg and are on crutches for as long as six weeks.

Thank you and your paper for your concern. We handicapped were beginning to think no one really cared.

Esch's body tells him he's in tough campaign

From Panax Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Mich.), knows he is in a tough political campaign for one very good reason. His body keeps telling him he is not getting enough sleep.

Esch, who is seeking the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, has faced a busy schedule in Congress at a time when he needs to move around Michigan making himself known and discussing issues.

"To keep up with what is going on in the House and still get back home frequently, I have been making about two round trips a week on flights from Washington to Detroit," he said.

He usually tries to divide the time in the air into three parts. One is for sleeping, the second for going through his brief case and the third for reading newspapers.

"The other night I woke up in the middle of a flight, and for the life of me, I couldn't recall right away whether I was going to or coming from Washington," Esch explained. "Finally I asked the man in the next seat."

The man explained the direction the plane was bound and then smiling sweetly told Esch: "I'm not surprised congressman. I have wondered before if you knew whether you were coming or going."

Congress lives high off U.S. taxpayers

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON—Not since the Cuban missile crisis has such a tremor of apprehension swept the halls of Congress.

Last weekend, Ms. Elizabeth Ray, 33-year-old blonde bombshell from Asheville, N.C., announced, urbi et orbi, that her $14,000-a-year stipend from the House Administration Committee was paid for providing services not customarily factored into your consumer price index.

The alleged beneficiary, Wayne Hays, of Ohio, canceled a junket to London with a platoon of colleagues — to pick up the Magna Carta for Bicentennial viewing—to fire the lady and declare her off her rocker. His colleagues hurried on across the Atlantic, announcing on arrival that they were too weary from the journey to comment on the lady's story.

Since Mr. Hays is the least-loved man on Capitol Hill, his current discomfiture might be cause for yucking it up in the cloakroom. The problem, however, is that Ms. Ray is giving off that "only-the-tip-of-the-iceberg" talk so disconcerting to politicians.

On Sunday, she was quoted: "There are 10 or 15 offices (on the Hill) where girls have to do this to get a job." Early Monday morning, the figures — like estimates of Soviet missile strength — were drastically upgraded. She told a local TV audience that perhaps a third of the Congressmen had extracurricular arrangements with clerks, staffers and secretaries.

Furthermore, she was writing a book about her life on Capitol Hill. Perhaps too much is being made of all this. Seems to me Mr. Hays' hiring of this otherwise untalented young woman ("I can't type; I can't file; I can't even answer the phone.") is fully consistent with the spirit of the Humphrey-Hawkins bill whereby government officials will guarantee jobs and work for the unemployed.

Secondly, taxpayer subsidies of the life style of our legislators is hardly an innovation. Currently, our Congressmen enjoy free parking, free haircuts, free shoeshines, free medical examinations, free prescriptions, free law books ($1,000 worth), free plants from the Botanical Gardens, free picture framing, free mailing privileges, free travel to and from their district, free swimming facilities, free health club privileges, free junkets to the finest watering holes in the world. The taxpayers subsidize their cocktail parties and dinners on Capitol Hill, their restaurants, their medical insurance and hospital stays at Walter Reed and Navy Medical, their basement commissary and richly endowed retirement program.

When the Ninety-Fourth Congress was elected in the Democratic landslide of '74, it was hailed as the most liberal in a decade. It has been — especially when it got down to Congressional "perks" and privileges.

In the last 18 months alone, our Congressmen have raised their district office allowances by 43 percent, their special air mail and special delivery stamp allowance by 25 percent, their stationary allowance by $1,250. They hiked their salaries $1,700 in a time of severe unemployment, and voted themselves an automatic cost-of-living escalator during a time of high inflation. The other day they raised by $10,000 to $25,000-a-year how much each may earn annually on the lucrative lecture circuit.

They have added, each of them, two additional staff slots at taxpayer expense, increasing their staff allowance to $34,000 a year. A new budget has been created on the Hill giving each Congressman roughly $5,000 for reimbursement for the cost of printing two newsletters to constituents. Of course, a $3,000 tax deduction is annually provided to offset the hardship of living away from the home district; and those Congressmen living within the capital are exempt from the D.C. income tax the rest of us pay.

Furthermore, Congressmen are entitled to maintain office slush funds for their own purposes, subject neither to the campaign spending limits, nor to the purview of the Federal Elections Commission. And they may if they wish come to the office about as often as Ms. Ray.

During the past 18 months, the cost of each Congressman has risen $110,000 per member. Over the last 20 years while the cost of living has risen 82 percent, the price of Congress has risen 560 percent.

Only with constant increases in pay and fringe benefits can we attract the best men and women to the job, we are told by way of explanation. That is one way of looking at it. Another is to reflect upon the comment made by the late Mark Twain who said, "It could probably be shown by facts and figures that there is no distinctly native American criminal class except Congress."

U.S. moving toward socialist serfdom?

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "Democracy and Socialism have nothing in common but one word: equality," wrote the French philosopher Alexis de Tocqueville in 1848. "But notice the difference; while Democracy seeks equality in liberty, Socialism seeks equality in restraint and servitude."

Although the above was written 128 years ago, the Socialist regimes in the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe, China, North Korea, Vietnam, and Cuba should shock us into awareness just what the 19th century French friend of liberty and foe of tyranny was warning future generations against.

However, there are those in Western non-Communist nations who insist that such Socialist serfdom and "servitude" will never be imposed on this nation. We offer in this space four recent examples to illustrate the foolishness and folly of such a claim.

1. India in the last year, considered a Democracy practicing Socialism founded on equality, has imposed on its people one of the most sweeping authoritarian dictatorships under Prime Minister Indira Gandhi ever seen in a non-Communist nation. The Indian press has been silenced, political opposition jailed and all civil and political liberties are subject to government control.

2. Socialist Sweden in late April drove into exile the world-famous film director Ingmar Bergman after its tax collectors unleashed a totalitarian campaign to collect back taxes. Bergman's top film star, Bibi Andersson, also has fled Socialist Sweden after two policemen walked into her home unannounced on a tax matter. "They started to act like Nazis shoving papers in my face," she recalled, after being locked up in jail and not permitted to make a phone call.

3. In Socialist Britain, tax agents on May 16 launched a series of raids against small British businessmen looking for evidence of evasion. Dennis Healey, Britain's secretary of the treasury, wants the House of Commons to arm British tax officials with sweeping powers. In the last years the British Socialist government has enacted laws affecting the liberties of individuals and the press of that nation.

4. This country, which has been creeping toward egalitarian Socialism since the Roosevelt New Deal of the 1930s, has exhibited similar totalitarian tendencies. For example, on April 13 the Senate Finance Committee heard testimony in support of Senate bill The Federal Taxpayers Bill of Rights. "Congress now knows," asserted supporters of the measure, "of major repeated abuses of taxpayers by the IRS. We call on the Finance Committee to act to correct these abuses."

However, the week before, the IRS in Washington sent to all its field offices Directive No. 68 dated April 7 ordering a sweeping investigation of 1,200 American corporations and thousands of executives. Eleven non-specific and generalized questions concerning alleged "corporate slush funds" were behind the IRS order. A copy of that directive obtained by this columnist clearly supports the claim of many businessmen who have been subjected to the investigation that it is being conducted with "blatant disregard for the Bill of Rights and is carried out with presumption of guilt without evidence."

The Ford administration must bear full responsibility for this latest abuse of power by the IRS—made all the more remarkable since the President is campaigning on restoring confidence in government!

What has been happening in India, Sweden, Britain and even here at home is not the outgrowth of a deliberate design of evil political leaders. Rather, it is the outgrowth of the belief that government can command social-economic equality and still leave its citizens untouched by the totalitarian consequences of such politics.

Such are the steps that lead a once free people step by step down the road to Socialist serfdom.

Lawmakers dally over aid package

By BOBBERT
Panax Lansing Bureau Chief

LANSING—There are times around here when it seems a wonder that anything is accomplished.

On those occasions, emotions get the upper hand on reason, a series of forces work at cross current with one another and those in charge must throw up their hands and hope for a better day tomorrow.

So it was when the Michigan House grappled with the question of a special aid package for Detroit. The $27.8 million bill includes money to help finance the Art Institute, museums, hospitals and other facilities used by people who live outside Detroit. It is a vital part of the package worked out by Gov. Milliken and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

In an attempt to get the necessary votes for it, backers in the Senate decided to tack on the $800,000 per year that goes to the Pontiac Stadium, on the theory more Oakland County lawmakers would vote for it that way. The rationale was that since people outside Pontiac use the stadium, too, it should be in the bill.

But as often happens to the best laid plans, something went astray.

The Senate knocked out the Pontiac Stadium money as the result of efforts by a group of senators who have been fighting it since it was first proposed. When it came to the House, the attention focused on the Pontiac Stadium money, rather than the Detroit money.

The wheels, as an old saying goes around here, fell off the buggy.

The House was called in for an unusual morning session in hopes the work would be done by the end of the day. But there was no agreement for anything.

A compromise was thought to have been agreed on to phase out the stadium money at $100,000 each year over a seven-year period.

But nine Detroit legislators backed off and voted against the compromise. That put the Oakland County House members, some of whom didn't need much of an excuse to vote against the Detroit aid to start with, in a box, particularly in an election year.

Temper flared on both sides of the aisle as the afternoon wore on and it became more apparent there was no agreement on anything. Amendment after amendment went down to defeat.

Freshman Rep. Jeff Padden (D-Wyandotte), tried to play the statesman's role by offering an amendment for $699,999 after the $700,000 proposal failed. It was time, he said, for an honorable compromise. Veteran John Kelsey (D-Warren), rose to tell Padden that if he introduced another amendment "he'd better have a parachute on because I'm going to throw him out the window."

Floor Leader Joe Forbes (D-Oak Park), walked toward some newsmen in the back of the chamber saying "I can't believe it's happening."

Shortly after 6 p.m. a call of the House, a move in which the doors are locked and no representative can leave, was ordered. It took 30 minutes of bitter procedural arguing before the bill was discussed again.

A vote finally was ordered on the bill, but it became obvious there weren't enough "yes" votes to pass it. Just before the vote could be announced, Forbes had the vote board cleared to erase the vote. Republican John Engler, of Mount Pleasant, angrily snatched the vote tally sheet from the rostrum to show other members what the totals had been. He was reprimanded.

No one was sure what to do. They had to pass the bill, but they couldn't. At one point Speaker Bobby Crim decided to pass it without any stadium money, but there were no Oakland County votes for it that way. And the votes weren't there for the stadium money.

Finally, in desperation, Forbes moved to adjourn for the day. He had given up. There would be no bill, at least not on that day. It was time to admit defeat and regroup.

But defeat in the battle did not mean a loss of the war. The next morning the sides involved sat down to work out a new compromise that could get the needed votes. With a little reasoning and some time, they still hoped to put things together.

And that, in the end, is why things eventually do work around here. The movers and shakers never give up. They may lose a battle here and there, but they know there's always a tomorrow. If they can hold on long enough they'll prevail.

It isn't clear cut, easy, neat or perfect. But it does work.

Romulus students get help from job placement office

By LEESMITH

Suburban Living Editor

Job placement is a service primarily for recent graduates of the Romulus Community Schools and in this first year of its operation, it has served over 300 students.

When graduates or drop-outs call on Catherine Ward, the job placement director, they are interviewed and given a work application form to fill out. On the basis of the interview and the manner in which the application was completed, Miss Ward may ask them to work on a module.

Six different self-teaching modules were prepared by Miss Ward to help students gain better employability skills. One student may not understand the meaning of "marital status" on the application while another might not know what "references" are. Others might have the idea that attitude is not important when seeking employment. The modules are especially for students with such problems. According to Miss Ward, attitude and appearance are the two areas in which applicants have the most problems.

Once a student is "prepped" and ready for employment, Miss Ward will arrange job interviews. Sometimes an employer will ask that the applicant be tested, for instance, in the area of math skills or typing speed. Those tests are completed in the job placement office and the results reported to the prospective employer.

After each interview, follow-up work and counseling are arranged and the student hears employer "feed-back" from Miss Ward. The student then has a chance to improve on his drawbacks and is encouraged for the next interview.

Once an applicant has found employment, the process does not end. Miss Ward contacts the employer by mail, by phone and in person to see that everything is satisfactory. Occasionally a student needs on-the-job counseling to help him make the necessary adjustments. The transition from high school into the world of work is often a difficult one for young adults.

The job placement office offers many other services to students including Miss Ward as a guest speaker in high school classes. Her topics cover the places to look for employment, labor laws for minors, how to write a resume, how to fill out job applications and how to dress and act during an interview.

Students may also visit her office at the high school to inquire about different occupations. She has information available on wages, job market demands, what different workers do, unions and what training is necessary for various careers. Summer jobs for high school students and working permits are also handled through the placement office.

Next February, job placement will host a career day at the high school during which students will have the opportunity to speak with representatives from many professional and vocational fields. Colleges will also send speakers to answer questions.

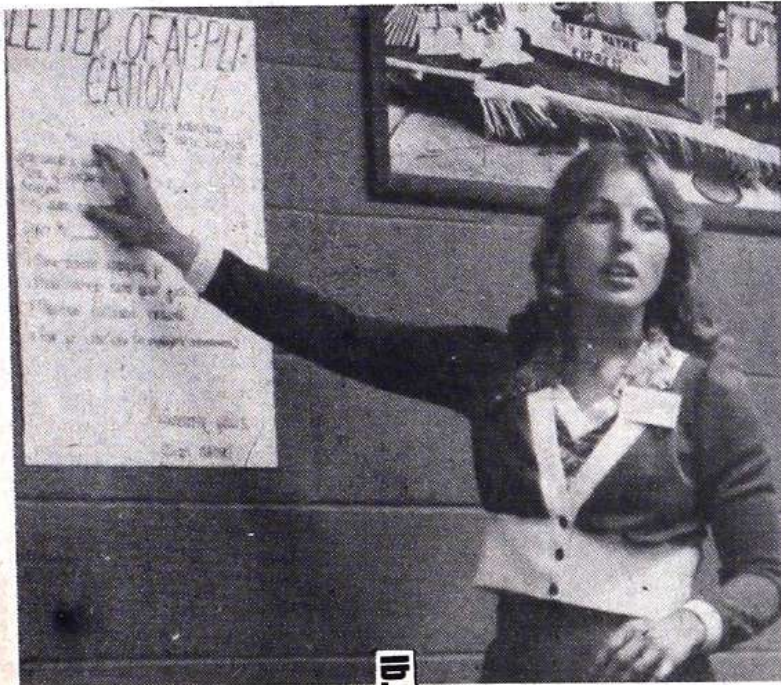

When "getting a job" is part of the curriculum, Miss Ward said, students are most likely to understand the reason they are required to take reading, writing and math in school. The goal is for each individual to find a valuable and satisfying role in life. Young people are finding help with their future in a complex society through the job placement center.

Study Club officers

The new officers of the Woman's Study Club were among the first club groups to be photographed at the site of the Belleville Bicentennial Park currently under construction on High Street. Among those heading the club for the ensuing

Job center a success

The director of the Job Placement Center for Romulus Community Schools, Catherine Ward, is often a guest speaker in high school classes. Her office, which served over 300 students during the past year, teaches prospective employees the how-to's in applying for a job; helps locate interested employers and follows up with counseling when the need arises.

VB Garden clubsters keep library grounds neat, well-groomed

The Van Buren Garden Club designated its May meeting as "Library Clean-up and Beautification Day." At that time many members participated in planting flowers, pruning and trimming shrubs and cleaning the patio and parking lot.

The pyracantha lalandi, a fire thorn which is a small genus of Asiatic evergreen, was dedicated to Dorothy Kapelanski to acknowledge and thank her for her work and dedication in maintaining and beautifying the library grounds. Special thanks also were accorded Ada Posthumus who has donated and planted petunias and been a constant helpful assistant in the project.

The club wishes, too, to thank the gentleman on Charles Street who turns up with wheelbarrow and brooms to help remove the debris.

The next meeting of the club will be June 22 at the home of Mrs. Walter Molik. At that time the following new officers will be installed: Mrs. Henry Deering, president; Mrs. William Mc Kee, vice-president; Mrs. Mokik, recording secretary; Mrs. Posthumus, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Harry Randall, treasurer.

Scouts hope to inspire 'clean-up' trend

May 22 was a busy day for the six Girl Scout troops in the Harrison area who met at the vacant lot on Leroy and Middlebelt Roads for their own clean-up campaign.

They took care of picking up rubbish and debris and bagging and stacking it for the D.P.W. to cart away. They were particularly interested in helping to beautify the entrance to their subdivision.

Troops participating were numbers 450, 195, 743, 682, 291 and 174. The girls conducted the project in conjunction with the Romulus Clean-Up Campaign and invited neighborhood children to assist. They are hopeful that their annual efforts to spruce things up will be contagious and spur others who live in the community to care about their surroundings.

The troops had made arrangements with the Romulus

City Hall to send workers out to mow the weeds after they had cleared the lot. Local businessmen who backed the girls in their effort by providing refreshments were Bilmar's Supermarket, Checker Drugs, Jack in the Box, Flag's Restaurant, Dino's Pizza, Jerry's Party Store, Piero's Restaurant, Quik Pik Party Store and the IGA Store.

The evening before, on May 21, the Harrison Area Girl Scout Cluster held its third annual "Fly Up Dinner." At that time girls who were ready to move on to other troops "flew up" and were pinned.

In Cadette Troop No. 450, Cindy Shipp flew into seniors while Deanna O'Donnell, Kim Lewis, Debbie Holloway and Rhonda Lowe of Junior Troop No. 195 entered Cadettes.

Carolyn Stewart, Helena Williams and Kim Thrasher of Junior Troop No. 743 flew into Cadettes. In Brownie Troop No. 683 Vickie Holloway, Martha Shipp, Susan Sawicki, Shelly Kaplowitz, Donna Rhodes, Tracey Gowder, Robin Terrell and Rose Ann Tuba were welcomed into juniors.

In Brownie Troop No. 174 Michelle Grobbel, Kim Watson, Angela Laden, Barbara Townsend and Mary Kadamus went on to juniors as did Sherrie Hall and Michelle Stoddard from Brownie Troop No. 291.

New officers for the 1976-77 club year were installed by a former club member, Patsy Campbell of Plymouth. At the helm for the coming season will be (from left) Sharlene Tator, treasurer; Phyllis Smith,

Pat Dillion state forensics winner

A Belleville High School junior, Pat Dillion, captured first place in the National Forensic League State Forensic competition recently held at Marshall High School with more than 30 schools participating.

Pat's championship qualifies her to represent Michigan at the National Forensic Tournament which will be held at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. Her appearance will mark the second time in the past three years that a member of the Belleville forensics team has represented the state at the national championship tournament. In 1974

John Dougherty finished as an octofinalist in the rigorous national competition.

Besides her involvement in forensics, Pat has many interests including membership in the French and Chemistry Clubs at BHS, the National Honor Society and the Student Senate. She also won a third place award in the Class A State Championship Tournament.

David White, BHS forensics coach, believes that Pat has an excellent chance to bring Belleville and the state of Michigan their first national championship in forensics competition. Pat, herself, feels that her participation in debate and forensics has been the most significant part of her education.

Mrs. Jahr is May hostess to AAUW

The Dearborn Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) was entertained May 26 at the Harmony Lane home of Mrs. Thurston Jahr. Thirty members of the Book and Travel Study Group enjoyed refreshments from a tea table presided over by Mrs. Harold Dickieson.

Arrangements for the noon meeting were made by Mrs. Walter Brackel, Mrs. Adolph Martin, Mrs. Wilfred Stark and Mrs. Claude Paul and included a member, Mrs. Roger Burton, as guest speaker. An exchange teacher for three months in the USSR, Mrs. Burton showed slides and narrated a program on Kiev, Russia.

MISS RUHLIG

'Picnic Pops' sponsors hoping for sunny June 5

"Picnic Pops"—

You've been hearing and reading those words for the past few weeks and, unless you ever were or currently are involved in the program, you no doubt are wondering, what is—are picnic pops?

No, they are not frozen ice cream or sherbet concoctions protruding from the end of a tongue depressor stick made especially for outdoor dining.

"Picnic Pops" is an outdoor concert sponsored annually near the close of the school year by a very active and enthusiastic group of parents known as the Belleville Band Boosters. On June 5 the group will hold its sixth annual presentation which will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. on the athletic field behind Belleville High School.

Bands from the high school, North and South Junior High Schools, the Elementary Honor Band and the String Orchestra will take turns performing throughout the afternoon.

A variety of snack foods will be available to purchase and a special bake sale booth will be featured.

An addition to this year's event will be a raffle drawing the first prize being a handmade doll house valued at $65. Second prize is a handmade doll with a China head, made and dressed by Lucille Clayton, a member of the Boosters. A tennis racket and basketball completes the list of prizes. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Clayton at 697-7519, at Cloverdale Dairy, or at the concert. You do not have to be present to win.

The schedule of bands performing at the "Picnic Pops" is as follows: 1 p.m. - North Intermediate Band; 1:30 p.m. - South Intermediate and Concert Band; 2:15 p.m. - Elementary Beginners Strings; 2:30 p.m. - North Concert Band; 3:15 p.m. - Elementary Intermediate Strings; 3:30 p.m. - Belleville High School combined bands; 4:15 p.m. - South Jazz Band; 4:45 p.m. - Elementary Honor Band; and 5:30 p.m. - Belleville High School Jazz Band.

The festivities included a 3-tier wedding cake arranged over a water fountain surrounded by baby booties representing the couple's children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

For the special occasion, the senior Mrs. Chapman donned a floor-length green gown to which she pinned her corsage of yellow carnations and baby's breath tied with gold ribbon. Her husband and sons tucked yellow boutonnières in their lapels and her daughter wore an orchid accented with gold ribbon. The daughters-in-law were distinguished by their yellow corsages.

Held at The Hillside Inn of Plymouth, her well-wishers included Esther Deering, Bea Raymond and Phyllis Smith as well as her husband, Harold Brown.

Others at the farewell get-together were Rosemary and Jack Loria, Doug Raymond and Phyllis Keyser, Tim Raymond and Marilyn and Melvin Prill.

The Browns, who sold their home on Stoney Creek Road, Ypsilanti, have moved to Horseshoe Bend, Ark. where they plan to build a new home. Mrs. Brown was presented with a wristwatch from the group.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Jae-Soo-Song of Los Angeles, Calif.

The occasion was in celebration of the birthday of Marvin Meerse and a belated wedding dinner honoring the newly wed Jae-Soo-Songs. Others present for the dinner were from Willis and Belleville.

After having been residents of the Belleville community for the past 30 years, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Boone sold their home on Bedell Street and moved last Saturday to a newly-purchased home and acreage near Big Rapids. Their new address is Rt. No. 2, Box 252A, Big Rapids, 49307.

On the evening of May 25, the Bedell Street and Robbe Avenue neighbors gathered at the home of Cora Bradshaw for a surprise farewell get-together in their honor. A social time was had followed by ice cream, cake and coffee.

Following the meal they adjourned to the lounge of the Belleville Methodist Church where Miss Doris Millman of Ypsilanti, a retired Dearborn librarian, displayed some of her collection of commemorative historical plates and discussed their value. She has plates collected along the Oregon Trail from the east to the west coast in her vast collection.

The next meeting of the group will be the June 19 tour of five outstanding Dearborn homes arranged by Lucille Webster.

On stage June 3-4-5

NAG, NAG, NAG, Of course, that's merely the name of the group of concerned mothers in "Vaudeville's My Home" to be presented June 3, 4 and 5 by students at North Junior High School. Among those having roles in the second all-school stage production are (from left) Judy Hrabosky, Sandy Long, Lisa Collins, Kim Edson, Theresa Sweat and Doreen Hilton. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. and tickets must be purchased in advance of the performances.

NJHS presenting second school play

The second all-school stage production involving students, faculty and other assistants at North Junior High School (NJHS) will be held at 7:30 p.m. June 3, 4 and 5.

This year's presentation is "Vaudeville's My Home" which centers around the citizens of Pleasant Corners, Ohio with a population of some 150 people. The play deals primarily with a "NAG" group of concerned mothers who are trying to think of a way to raise funds. When approached by two con artists who sell them on staging a vaudeville show, the result is townspeople with and without talent planning on being featured.

"NAG" president is played by Carolyn Phillips with members of her group being Lisa Collins, Kim Edson, Doreen Hilton, Theresa Sweat, Sandy Long and Judy Hrabosky.

Gordon Eccles and Thor Butler

conspire as partners in crime while Diane Sheldon enacts a spinster in her early 80's who owns most of Pleasant Corners. The Mc Dowell family parts are being taken by Jim Buhro, Karen Lyons, Linda Kessler, Charles Martin and Brian Bennett.

Others in the cast include Race Smith, Kim Alspaugh, Diane Mullins, Mark Hammond and Curt Cardinal.

The director, Frank Hill, the cast and production crew hope to generate as much enthusiasm as "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" did last spring.

Tickets, which may be purchased or ordered from the school, are $1.50 for adults and $1. for students. For the June 3 presentation, elementary school students will be charged only 50 cents. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Refreshments will be available during intermission.

Local woman elected

The Great Lakes Steel American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 272, gathered for a business meeting and election of officers for the 1976-77 year. Mrs. Frank Feltman of 9757 Van Buren St., Belleville, was named president of the group.

She and her fellow officers will be sworn in during a joint installation of new post and unit officers on June 19 at 7 p.m. at the Ecorse Post Memorial Home.

Gas company warns of phony teams

Thieves prey on elderly people

Several two-man teams of thieves are posing as Michigan Consolidated Gas Company representatives to gain admittance to homes in the Detroit area and to rob them, the utility has warned.

Glenn D. Bennett, chief of security for the utility, said the thieves are preying primarily on elderly people. Fortunately, Bennett said, all but two of the 17 customers contacted so far by the thieves have become suspicious and the pair fled empty-handed. In those two cases, however, the thieves got $200 and $140.

Bennett said the thieves talk their way into homes on the pretext that the gas company suspects there may be a leak in the house and that the homeowner may have a cash rebate coming as a result of the leak.

"The two men pretend to check the gas meter," Bennett said. "They tell the homeowner that they found a leak and that the customer is entitled to a cash rebate because it was the company's fault."

"The two thieves then produce a $50 or $100 bill and ask the homeowner for change. After watching where the customer gets the change, one of the men distracts the customer by having him or her watch the burner on the stove or furnace while he makes an adjustment. Meanwhile, his accomplice is ransacking the area of the house where the homeowner had gotten the change."

Bennett said the thieves have used white hard hats, picture identification cards (not Michigan Consolidated employee ID cards), Michigan Consolidated Gas Company customer meter read cards and blue caps similar to the ones worn by company service personnel to convince customers that they were employees of the gas company.

The thieves, Bennett said, have driven a grey Chevrolet, a red pickup truck with a compressor on the rear and a blue 1974 pickup truck with red carpeting and a compressor on the back. The white-and-gold pickup truck has an Illinois license plate.

Victims of the hoax reported that the thieves ranged in age from 21 to 40 years. They said they were dark complexioned, possibly Mexican or Spanish.

The height of the thieves ranges from 5 feet 2 inches to six feet and their weight from 135 to slightly over 200 pounds.

Bennett cautioned homeowners to ask anyone claiming to be a representative of Michigan Consolidated for his company identification card before admitting the person to their homes.

If still suspicious, he added, the customer should telephone the company at 965-8000.

Carter supporters

Romulus Councilwoman Beverly McAnally (left), was on hand to help out at the Jimmy Carter campaign headquarters in Taylor when the Democratic Presidential Candidate's campaign reached full swing in Michigan during the presidential primary election last month. Also on hand to pass out Carter literature during his campaign effort were Grace Hampton of Inkster, Geva Hoover of Taylor, and Taylor Mayor S. Richard Marshall. Lending her hand at the affair was Carter's "Aunt Sissy" Dolvin, up from Georgia to carry the Carter campaign to Michigan voters. Mrs. Hampton and Mrs. Hoover were sharing duties as Carter's 15th Congressional District coordinators.

Romulus man gets AF award

A Romulus serviceman is a member of Michigan's Wurtsmith Air Force Base civil engineering squadron which was selected as the best in the United States Air Force.

Sgt. Dale E. Lack, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence R. Lack of 6330 Cordell St., Romulus, was the recipient of the Robert H. Curtin Award as a member of the Strategic Air Command's 379th Civil Engineering Squadron.

The award, named for the former Air Force director of civil engineering, is presented annually to the unit maintaining the most economical and effective resources management program during the past year. Selection is made by the Society of American Military Engineers.

A 1971 graduate of Romulus High School, Sgt. Lack is an inventory management specialist with the squadron.

Attorney general urges approval of House bills

Attorney General Frank Kelley is urging the Michigan Legislature to pass two House bills which would provide funds for the renovation and permit planning to begin for a new medical facility at state correctional institutions.

Kelley, in a letter to the legislative leadership, said: "At the present time my office is engaged in the defense of several lawsuits, most of which have been brought under the authority of the civil rights statute, challenging the medical conditions in Michigan's penal institutions.

"These suits assert that the level of health care in Michigan's prisons is so inadequate as to violate the constitutional prohibition of cruel and unusual punishment."

In his letter, Kelley added that a study by the governor's advisory committee, made in 1975, adopted the principle that "health care available to residents of Michigan's prisons must be consistent with modern professional practice in an adequately served community."

"I sincerely hope that you will give serious consideration to the various proposals presently before the legislature to improve the quality of health care available in Michigan's penal institutions," the attorney general added.

Elementary musicians to play

Elementary youngsters in the Romulus Community Schools had a taste of the "big time" when they were invited to play with the South

Junior High School musicians as part of the annual South Junior High School Spring Concert.

Featured as part of the concert were the Elementary Honors Band and the Elementary Honors Choir along with the Junior High School Concert Band, choir and Symphony Band. Featured elementary soloists at the concert were Chris Pennington, a Cory Elementary School fourth grade student, who performed "Variations of American Patrol" on the Trombone; Todd Biggs, a Merriman Elementary School fifth grade student who performed "Variations on Sailing" on the saxophone and Mt. Pleasant Elementary School sixth grader Tom Scamp performing "Variations on Grandfather's Clock" on the saxophone.

The three elementary soloists were chosen based on elementary students' competition held at the schools.

Youngsters were selected first on their skill with individual instruments used in the elementary band instruction and then on their general musical skill.

In addition to the three soloists, who were judged "best" on their overall musical skill, instrument "winners" in the fourth grade judging were Lisa Brossa of Romulus Elementary School on the flute, Joe Molitor, of Wick Road School on the clarinet, Byron Lewis of Beverly Elementary School on the saxophone, Tedd Gibb of Merriman Elementary School on the cornet and Ken Steven of Merriman Elementary School on the drums.

Fifth grade instrument winners include Tammy Sheldon of Mt. Pleasant School on the flute, Cathy Napier of Harrison Elementary School on the clarinet, Marlene Carpenter of Beverly School on the cornet and Carl White of Romulus Elementary School on the drums.

Sixth-grade winners include Linda Saenz of Wick School on the flute, Christ Munyak of Wick Road School on the clarinet, and LeRoy Bucroff of Romulus Elementary School on the trombone.

Each instrument winner received a $5 prize and the grade champion received a $10 prize.

On tour

Two Inkster and Romulus safety patrolers were among 90 from Michigan who toured the nation's capital recently as guests of Automobile Club of Michigan. One of the tour's highlights was a trip to the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, where Andre Healey, 12, of 4552 Moore Court, a student at Inkster's Douglas School (center), and Alan Kreyger, 11, of 16419 Vining Road and Romulus' Merriman School, were greeted by a guide at the 1-ton bronze sculpture of President Kennedy in the Grand Foyer. The 4-day Auto Club trip also gave patrolers a tour of the Gettysburg, Pa., Civil War battlefield.

Residents selected to join fraternities and societies

Several residents of the Belleville-Romulus community have been inducted into fraternities and societies at their respective colleges this year.

Michael Griz, a junior at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant, has been accepted as a new member of Sigma Iota Epsilon, the honorary and professional management fraternity at the college. Initiates for the fraternity are selected on the basis of their scholastic achievement in the field of business and education.

At Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn., Belleville resident Rickey White has been elected at secretary of the Lambda Rho Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, the national honor society in education.

Belleville resident Mary Elizabeth Carroll also has been tapped for membership in the Michigan State University chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, the national honor society. To become a member of the all-academic scholastic society, the student must be in the top 1.5 percent of the junior class or top 7 percent of the senior class.

And honored for being the outstanding graduating senior in management-industrial relations at Eastern Michigan University was Shirley Durham of Elwell Road, Belleville. Miss Durham was a business management major at the Ypsilanti college.

Tour previews voc ed Building Trades home

Although the building already is sold, Van Buren area residents are invited on a special "preview tour" of the Belleville High School Building Trades Class winter-long building project.

A special open house will run from 1 to 4 p.m. June 6 at the building trades class home located at 44525 Beverly Road, Van Buren Township.

The 1,200-square-foot home, located on a 125-by-189 lot in Van Buren, was built by building trades students Darel Adams, David Bentley, Ronald Buhro, Glenn Gleghorn, Jay Crum, Steve DeBord, Wayne Houghton, Douglas Roberts, Louis Kovach, Michael Tishma, Keith Trull, Robert Weldon, David Woody, Anthony Viers, Gary Runau, Vincent Cox, Charles Howard, Joseph Koger, Timothy Majors, Wendell Phillip, Sid Rhodes, Melvin White, Douglas Bogardus, David Mukis, Tommie DeVall, David Flatt, James Manier, Phillip Morin and Conrad Samonek.

Also involved, but not working the entire year were Spence Coururier and Brian Miller.

The home was constructed under the supervision of Narvelus Pearson, building trades instructor and William Nagy, supervisor of vocational education.

This year's "school home" features three bedrooms with a 1½ baths and a brick and aluminum exterior.

A garage of 529 square feet also is included in the home, which is heated with natural gas and has water and sewer connections.

CUFA to provide reassuring calls

Senior citizens within the area served by the Communities United for Action Inc. (CUFA) will be receiving reassuring telephone calls more often, thanks to funding provided by the Michigan Bicentennial Commission for a Telephone Reassurance Project.

Merriell LaBelle has been hired with the funds to call about 30 persons per day on a regular basis. Under the program, if a call is not answered by the second day, someone will be dispatched to check up on the resident.

"When I call the first time, I tell them about the services that CUFA has to offer and ask them if it's all right to call them regularly," Mrs. LaBelle said. "Some seniors are visited frequently by members of their family, but they still appreciate my calls.

"Others have very few visitors, and they really look forward to the days I call them. So far no one has told me that they prefer I didn't call."

She added that her explanation about CUFA includes the services provided for seniors, such as the transportation program and senior aides, which escort people to different places.

"My main purpose, though, is to act as a reassuring friend in the lives of senior citizens of the area," she said.

Seniors who would like to hear from Mrs. LaBelle can contact her at 942-0270.

UD team nets 3rd in test

Romulus resident Frank Polka was part of a 24-student team from the University of Detroit to place third in a state-wide Intercollegiate Marketing Competition, sponsored by the General Motors Corp. recently.

Polka was one of 16 students majoring in marketing who teamed up with eight communications studies majors for the contest. The team worked under the direction of Dr. Ken Kono of the College of Business and Administration and Dr. Harvey Gottliffe of the communications studies department.

To mark their third-place finish the students were awarded a plaque, while the University of Detroit netted a $1,000 check.

The objective of the competition was to analyze the impact of government regulations upon the automobile industry and to create a viable marketing structure for General Motors' Chevette. The analysis of government regulations was performed by Dr. Kono and Richard Bridenbaugh, a business administration graduate fellow.

The marketing undergraduates conducted research aimed at analyzing customer perceptions of the Chevette. Armed with this information, the communication studies students devised a promotional campaign.

First place in the contest went to Wayne State University. Michigan Technological University finished second.

It was in France during the last decade of the 19th century that the automobile began to assume some of its present form and popularity. The wide, level boulevards of Paris, and the fine paved roads radiating out of the French capital were the ideal settings for rich sportsmen to display their noisy new playthings. By 1885 there were so many self-propelled vehicles puttingtering about that the French language added a new word to describe them. The word was, of course, automobile, from the Greek word for self (auto), and the Latin word for moving (mobilis).

For quality parts and machine shop repair service at reasonable prices, visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster. We specialize in auto parts for foreign and domestic cars. Some happy Chevette owners talk about their cars.

Jane Saito, Chevette owner.

"61 was looking for a car that would save me gas and that's why I chose the Chevette."

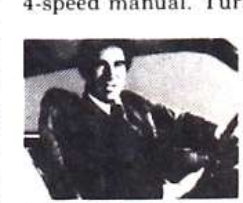

40 MPG EPA Highway estimate, 28 MPG EPA City estimate. Chevette with standard 1.4-litre engine, 4-speed manual transmission and 3.70 axle ratio. Actual mileage may vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition and available equipment. Sound like the kind of savings you could use?

Kevin Nichols, Chevette owner.

"It does everything they said it would do. Roomy, good gas mileage, not a rough ride for a small car. It's all right!"

Chevette power teams are combinations of economy and efficiency. The standard engine is a 1.4-litre 4-cylinder overhead cam with the smoothness and quietness of hydraulic valve lifters. A zippier 1.6-litre engine is available. Standard transmission is a fully synchronized 4-speed manual. Turbo Hydra-matic is available.

Reinhard Lesser, Chevette owner.

"61's very well appointed... It has a wonderful turning radius."

Chevette has one of the smallest turning circles of any car in the world. Just 30.2 feet. Something you'll appreciate as you park and move through city traffic. Steering is a responsive rack-and-pinion system.

"61's bigger inside than I thought it would be... It's everything I thought it would be."

Chevette Coupe is the kind of car that just naturally makes people happy. Inside, it's got room for four people, with elbow and leg room to spare. Front seats are body-contoured buckets. The rear seat is full-foam, full-width.

Chevette is built to keep people who are happy with it, happy for a long time to come. 17 different anti-corrosion methods are used in the building of its body: expensive epoxy paint, a wax base spray down underneath, galvanized metals, oil base coatings, zinc-rich primers, inner fender liners and other things to help every Chevette fight rust and wear.

What more can we say? Chevette is a very roomy car—a very efficient Chevrolet.

Louise Smith, Chevette owner.

"This is my first small car, and I like it very much."

BHS grad to play with Colorado orchestra

A chance to perform three piano concertos of his own choice makes Robert Morris happy. Recently chosen as the pianist for the summer season by the Colorado Philharmonic Orchestra, Morris, who has been on the staff at Eastern Michigan University (EMU), will leave soon for Evergreen, Colo.

After earning a Bachelor of Science degree in music in 1973 and an Master of Arts degree in music performance in December 1975, both at EMU, Morris has been the official accompanist for the EMU Dance Division of the department of health, physical education and recreation. The Colorado Philharmonic.

sponsored by the National Endowment for the Arts, business enterprises and local support in the state, now is in its 15th year of performing summer concertos. The orchestra is made up of about 100 musicians chosen by audition across the entire nation. Morris, who was selected after his audition in Ann Arbor, will be the only pianist with the group. In addition to his three solo performances, he will join chamber music groups for special performances and also will act as accompanist when needed.

He has chosen to perform Beethoven's "Concerto No. 1 in C Major, opus 13," "Concerto No. 23 in A, K. 488" by Mozart; and for a concert, featuring American composers, to be played during the July 4 celebrations, he will play George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

The philharmonic is scheduled to give three concerts a week in Evergreen which is 30 miles west of Denver. It will give concerts between June 13 and Aug. 23 in Steamboat Springs; Shadow Mountain and Hidden Valley, both national parks; at the University of Colorado in Boulder and in Colorado Springs.

Morris, who graduated from Belleville High School, has served for the past eight years as organist and choir director for the Belleville United Presbyterian Church. He will have a cheering section of his own for one of his performances which his family plans to attend. Included are his mother, Mrs. Odessa Morris, a brother and his wife from Chicago, a sister and her husband from Monroe, and a brother and his wife and sister and her husband from Ann Arbor. Morris intends to continue his study of piano in the fall.

Outdoor emergencies:
What do you do?

Outdoor enthusiasts, who have taken to camping, experience a feeling of freedom, the beauty of the woods and how great everything tastes cooked over a campfire, but all that pleasure can turn to sorrow if a camper doesn't know what to do in emergency situations.
The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service has produced a handy pocket guide which outlines survival, safety and first aid for campers and hikers.
One of the tips offered in the guide is to let someone know where you're going and when you'll return. It also advises campers to carry a police whistle in case of emergencies and to avoid travelling alone, unless an experienced woodsman.
For hikers, groups should stay together and avoid letting anyone lag behind. And travelling in darkness or during a storm also may lead to tragedy, the guide advises.
If you do get lost, or suffer an injury that leaves you unable to go for help, use whatever means available to signal for assistance. The universal call for help is three signals in rapid succession repeated at regular intervals and can be three shots, three flashes of light, three blasts on a whistle or three puffs of smoke.
The guide also advises the building of a signal fire to help guide rescuers to the lost party.
The guide, entitled "Outdoor Safety Tips," is one of more than 240 selected federal consumer publications listed in the summer edition of the "Consumer Information Index." Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, the index is available free of charge by writing the center at Pueblo, Colo. 81009.
The "Outdoor Safety Tips" also is available from the center, but costs 35 cents per copy.

Regional tennis champs

Westland John Glenn's tennis team recorded a school first when Coach Don Aldrich's Rockets captured the Class A regional championships they hosted last week. Glenn also had the best doubles team in the regionals in Pat McBride and Gary Whited who met teammates Chris Kaczor and

Inkster's Bailey, White capture SAC track titles

Despite Robichaud's strong showing at the Suburban Athletic Conference track meet, Inkster received its share of gold medals. Coach Mary Mabry's Vikings finished third to the three-time SAC champ with 38½ points—Robichaud had 81—but the Inkster runners came away with a gold medal in the half-mile thanks to Evans White's 1:59.0 performance.

Inkster also had the top 100-yard dashman in the meet. He's Keith Bailey who was clocked in 10.1.

Robichaud won the league title for the third straight year.

Wayne's runner-up

Hansen top hurdler in Great Lakes

Riding the strength of Brett Hansen's two first places and Rick Blaha's record-setting performance in the 2-mile, Wayne Memorial finished second to Monroe at the annual Great Lakes 8 Conference Track & Field Championships.

The runner-up spot provided Coach Ernie Righetti's Zebras with an over-all second place finish in the league.

Monroe, with 121-points, took over from Fordson as the league champ.

"Our boys probably performed as well as they did all year," Righetti noted, "however, Monroe compiled more than 60 points in the field events and we just couldn't catch them."

Hansen's two golds came off of his performances in the hurdles. He hit the wire in the highs in 14.8, then won the lows by virtue of a 20.1 effort.

Blaha proved he's the best 2-mile in the conference as he set a league record at 9:50.3 in finishing first.

Wayne brought the curtains down on a 5-2 league and a 6-5 over-all season and the prompted the following comment from Righetti:

"I was quite pleased with the performances and attitude of this team," he said. "This was my first year and I figured it would be a rebuilding year."

"And to finish so well in the league is a credit to these fine athletes," Righetti added.

Wick's Junior Eagles cop wrestling medals

Wick's Junior Eagles captured five medals at the Age Group Classic Freestyle Wrestling Tournament sponsored by the Michigan Wrestling Club and held at Garden City West High.

The five medalists are: John Sutton (9-10, 80-pounds) and Mark Phillips, (11-12, 100-pounds) who placed second in their respective age group and weight classes and Kevin Sullivan (9-10, 75-pounds), Troy Williams (9-10, 90-pounds) and Bill Arrington (11-12, 100-pound) who claimed third place medals.

The team is coached by John Wood and Pete Silveri.

Undefeated Cherry Hill retains Tri-River title

Cherry Hill capped a perfect dual meet season by winning its second consecutive Tri-River Conference Track & Field Championships.

With three of its athletes combining for 61¼ of its 108½ points, Cherry Hill had no trouble holding off its challengers.

Garden City West was second with 67 points, followed by Melvindale (64), Taylor Kennedy (43), Riverside and Southgate Schafer with 20 points, Crestwood, with 18½ and Southgate, with 10.

"This victory is especially pleasing because we had so many individuals who have been on this team together for so long and it ended their prep careers with another championship," said Grasley.

"Also, it is always nice to put two league victories back-to-back," Grasley added.

Cherry Hill has now won 23 in a row in the league. It is the Spartans' second straight unbeaten season.

Cherry Hill's Paul Centkowski climaxed an outstanding prep swim and track career by winning three gold medals. Centkowski won the 100-yard dash in 10.5, then annexed the 220-yard crown with a 23.2 finish.

Paul had the winning leap in the long jump at 21 feet, 3½ inches.

Senior Bill Johnson and Bill Coughenour were double winners for the Spartans. Johnson was clocked in 1:58.1 in winning the half-mile while he hit the wire in 50.0 for his victory in the quarter-mile.

Coughenour's 127 feet toss in the discus gave him his first gold medal. He covered the low hurdles in 20.4 for his second victory. Bill also placed second in the shot put (44 feet, 7½ inches) and third in the long jump (20 feet, 7 inches).

Centkowski and Coughenour each had 23 points while Johnson's contribution was 15¼ points.

There is a rumor going around that CBS is giving consideration to producing a TV special to be called "The Rods of Spring." As such, it would be a sort of sequel to the now-well known programs, "The Guns of Autumn" and "Echoes of the Guns of Autumn."

The "Guns" specials were so successful that CBS is being sued for $300 million by Michigan United Conservation Clubs, on behalf of Michigan's one million hunters. The hunters, says MUCC, were slandered by the giant television network and were made to look ridiculous in pursuing their favorite sport.

Fishermen, of course, feel terrible to think that CBS has failed to slander them, too. If rumors are correct, though, this could soon be remedied and maybe then the anglers could sue CBS for even more than the $300 million being asked by the hunters.

Just imagine the possibilities in a TV special called "The Rods of Spring." It could show a wild-eyed fisherman digging worms from his garden and thereby depriving defenseless robins of a good meal for themselves and their nearby nestlings.

That, however, would be only the beginning of the cruelty. It could be followed up with close-up camera shots of the angler impaling a squirming worm on his barbed hook. Worms, obviously, don't make any kind of sounds but any television studio has a whole library of records to depict what is needed. The poor worm could be made to sound like it was screaming in agony or maybe just giving out with a subtle groan.

At that point, the fisherman would grin gleefully and proceed to drop the writhing worm into the water in an attempt to drown it. The cameras could then go underwater to watch as the poor thing gasps for breath until a fish comes along to crunch down with powerful jaws and put it out of its misery.

From there the action could switch to the problems of the fish which is then impaled upon the hook. It spits the lifeless body of the worm out as it attempts to escape from the line that leads up to the bending rod held by the angler. Unable to escape the steady pressure, though, the fish is eventually forced to roll belly-up and be brought to net. It is then hung on a stringer with others of its kind to await full execution by knife and gradual burning in a frying pan.

Nor should fly fishermen be spared from this exposure to the public eye. How about a scene of a typical Trout Unlimited member wading his favorite trout stream? The underwater cameras could show him stepping heavily-footed on delicate insect life that grows on the gravel runs and maybe even wiping out the carefully spawned eggs of a steelhead trout which were left in an underwater nest.

The ultimate cruelty, though, would be when this fly-flinging angler convinces a hungry trout that his topwater offering is really a bite of genuine food. However, instead of inhaling a delicious morsel, the trout would get only a mouthful of feathers!

Westland slowpitch

Big bats boom

Westland's Department of Parks and Recreation's slowpitch softball competition got off to a flying start recently with most teams in the men's major and minor leagues seeing action.

In Men's Major, Westland Sport Shop dumped Kelvin's Lounge, 23-14; the Dirty Dozen topped Glass Crutch Lounge, 19-15; Owl's Nest Restaurant edged Studio Lounge, 9-8, and Feister Oil and Auto got by Big Bill's Sport Shop, 12-0.

In the blue division of the Men's Minor League, Leaseaway of Detroit trampled Art's Lawn Service, 19-9; and Al's Collision buried Charlie's Country Bar, 13-3; Evergreen Sprinklers nipped Panama Reds, 13-11; Livonia Import and Sports Car Repair banged out 35 hits as they devastated North Bros. Ford, 29-7; Interior Reflections playarled a 25-hit attack into a 17-5 romp over PJ's Lounge, and Real Estate One edged the Westland "J's", 12-10.

George Smith Realty beat Forest City Flyers, 15-9, in a game played in the Red Division of the Men's Minor League. In other action, the Raiders got by Johnny's Union '76, 8-6; Wayne Motor Supply barely nipped Red Door Lounge, 5-4; Joe Thomas crushed the Pedagogues, 17-2; Hawthorne Valley took care of the Troubadours, 13-10, and Dennett's Auto Service bounced Wayne County General, 11-5.

Hitting stars in the Major League were C. Riffle of Glass Crutch Lounge who banged out five hits and drove in three runs; and Kevin Closser, Glass Crutch; R. Deedler, Dirty Dozen; R. Carr, Feister Oil and Auto, and Taylor, Westland Sport Shop, each with four hits. Abramski of Westland Sport drove in four runs with three hits, including a homer.

In the Blue Division Livonia Import's Chuck Ruthig, Jim Jesson and Ray Lafhere led the bat attack, with Ruthig going five for six, including two homers and six runs batted in, and Jesson and Lafhere contributing four hits apiece. Jesson also drove in four runs. In other action, Mike Mouscan of Bob and Al's Collision slammed two round trippers and a single, good for five runs batted in, while Dave Hunt of Interior Reflections banged out four hits and drove in four runs in his team's win.

Red Division hitting leaders were Sam Abdelnour of Dennett's Auto Service, whose four hits brought in five teammates, and Jim Ferrari who drove in three runs on three hits. Price of George Smith Realty homered and singled and drove in five runs. Driving in four runs each were Bayagian of the Raiders and S. Brown of Joe Thomas. One of Brown's two hits was a four-bagger.

Detroit Teen Challenge to speak at church

Tri-City Assembly of God, located at 2100 Hannan Road, will host Detroit Teen Challenge this Sunday at 7 p.m.

Teen Challenge is a non-profit Christian organization, founded by The Rev. David Wilkerson, the author of the book, "The Cross and The Switch Blade" which later was made into a movie.

The problems of drug abuse, alcoholism, delinquency, crime, and student unrest stare society in the face and refuse to go unnoticed, said the Rev. E.W. Raimier, pastor of the Assembly of God. One organization is noticing these problems and doing something about them, he added. Teen Challenge works with persons who are looking for an answer to the situations facing them. The one answer Teen Challenge offers as a solution is Jesus Christ, Rev. Raimier said.

Through coffeehouses, resident centers, Sunday schools in ghetto areas, and prison and jail ministries, Teen Challenge reaches out to those who need help whether in the slum or the suburbs. The ministry also extends into the areas of vocational programs, Bible school training, care of neglected children and guidance for unwed mothers. However, residents shouldn't get the wrong idea, Teen Challenge isn't a welfare or social concern agency, the reverend said. Instead, it's a "down-to-earth, realistic" organization that presents a "definite, positive answer" to problems, whatever they are.

A belief in Jesus Christ and dedication to Him are offered at Teen Challenge as the "one sure cure" to drug abuse, delinquency and every other ailment that confronts each of us, he added. Teen Challenge's answer works. At least 65 percent of those with drug problems who go to one of the centers for help are permanently cured, and more than 9,000 conversions through Teen Challenge's various ministries are recorded each year, Rev. Raimier said.

Juvenile and parole officers, judges, and officials at the state and national levels also are using the centers as referral agencies because they know Teen Challenge's work is effective, he said. The more than 50 centers across the nation and in Puerto Rico are only a phone call or walk away if a person needs help. Pastor Raimier has extended an invitation to hear The Rev. Dobrotka and the Teen Challenge staff and students as they present a program of "heartwarming testimonies" and a timely "God-inspired message that will challenge young people and adults." The Tri-City Assembly of God is located on Hannan Road north of Michigan Avenue.

Canton sets softball tourney

The Canton Township Slow Pitch Softball League opened the week with its top two teams pitted against each other. McMurray Insurance blanked Massey Cadillac, 3-0, with Mark Immerfall tossing a one-hit shut-out against a hard hitting Massey team.

Bob Scherel and Carl Vasquez hit back-to-back doubles after two outs in the first inning to score the only run McMurray needed.

In the third Bernie Jackson belted a towering home-run onto Canton Center Road to drive in Marty Bliven who had tripled. The rest of the game featured fine defensive plays on both sides, as the seven inning contest lasted only 45 minutes. McMurray now stands on top of the A Division as the only undefeated team as they also defeated Perlongo, 12-3.

In other action in the A Division,

Smith Realty picked up two wins as the beat Plymouth Construction, 14-10 and Latin Quarter, 13-10. Massey squeaked by surprising Plymouth Construction 9-7, and Latin Quarter defeated winless Perlongo, 9-6.

In B Division action, Dearborn Fabricating picked up three consecutive wins in three nights as they edged Star Furniture, 8-7, walloped Meijer's, 10-2, and beat winless Deer Creek, 9-4.

The only two undefeated teams in B Division, Clark Block and Little Ceasars, squared off Wednesday night and battled to a 14-1 tie. Little Ceasars went into the bottom of the seventh behind 14-8, and scored six runs with seven hits to pull even. With two outs Jim Raimier lined a single to drive in the final two runs of the inning to tie the game, and with Raimier standing on second, Gatti lined a shot right at the shortstop to end the game.

K-Mart picked up two wins beating Meijer's, 11-7 and edging Strook, 10-9. Little Ceasars beat Star Furniture, 14-8, and Good's Nursery squeaked by Deer Creek, 12-11.

In the Women's League Moeller remained the only undefeated team as they stomped College Park 17-8 in a 5 inning contest. Moeller pounded out 17 hits, with first baseman Pam Nanny belting two singles, a double, and a triple to lead the attack. Meijer's walloped Mobil Lounge 22-0 in the other women's contest as Kris and Karen Sarnecki teamed up to pitch the shut-out. Trudy Watkins led Meijer's 27 hit attack with two singles and two doubles.

The upcoming week will feature annual Plymouth-Canton Slow Pitch Softball Tournament which begins at 6:15 P.M. Friday at three locations: Canton Field at Canton Center and Cherry Hill, Plymouth-Canton Field next to Canton High School, and Massey Field on Plymouth Road across from Burroughs.

The double elimination tournament will offer the 16 best slow pitch teams in the area and will be conducted Friday night, Saturday, and Sunday afternoon at Massey Field.

5 Glenn gridders 'drafted'

Area colleges have drafted five outstanding John Glenn gridders who help Coach Lloyd Carr's Rockets to a record-setting 9-1 season last year.

The five: Mark Coulston, Jeff Cuddeback, Todd DeLuca, Fred Shoemaker and Chuck Squires also were members of the Associated Newspapers' All-Area football team.

Co-captain Coulston will attend Michigan Technological University and has been promised a scholarship if he makes the varsity team. He feels he can stick with the varsity, but probably only as a member of the specialty teams.

Alma College has secured both Cuddeback and DeLuca for next year. Of the two, DeLuca is the most likely candidate for varsity action, because of his kicking ability, in addition to his quarterbacking skills.

Cuddeback believes he has a better chance to start on the reserve squad as a linebacker than he has of making varsity.

Size, or rather lack of it, has never stopped Shoemaker in the past, and he's hoping it won't next year when he tries his hand at college football with NCAA Division II Champion Northern Michigan University.

It appears the coaches at Northern are pretty high on Fred because they gave him a scholarship to play next year.

Wayne State University has signed the Rockets' other co-captain, Squires, to play defensive tackle next year.

Smokers are talking about a new kind of cigarette.

It's MERIT. The remarkable new low tar cigarette made with the 'Enriched Flavor' process.

MERIT has only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Yet, taste tests proved that MERIT delivers as much—or more—flavor than cigarettes having up to 60% more tar.

If you smoke, you'll be interested in what people like yourself are writing to us about MERIT.

'We, the Women...' to convene

WSU conference probes women in work

The concerns and problems of women in the fields of politics, health, work, education and legal rights will be examined by national authorities who will convene June 11-13 for Wayne State University's (WSU) Bicentennial conference, "We, the Women..."

Conference coordinator Rodabe Bharucha-Reid of WSU's Environmental Studies Program said: "We hope to foster a new understanding of the Preamble to the Constitution, 'We, the people...'"

"As we observe the nation's Bicentennial, we also put forth the proposition that both men and women will lead a better life only through equal opportunity and the active pursuit of such life-giving conditions as health, nutrition, schooling and work."

Among numerous prominent participants are consumer affairs advocate Bess Myerson; Lucy Wilson Benson, past president of the League of Women Voters; author Caroline Bird; U.S. Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite-Burke (D-Cal.); conductor-director Sarah Caldwell; psychologist Phyllis Chesler; coloratura soprano Mattiwillda Dobbs; law professor Leo Kanowitz; labor leader Olga Madar; and medical sociologist Nancy Milio.

"Women in the new-New World" will be Miss Myerson's topic at the conference's closing session at 4:45 p.m. June 13.

A conference highlight is a concert at 8:30 p.m. June 12, featuring guest conductor Caldwell, director of the Opera Company of Boston, directing soprano Dobbs and the Michigan Chamber Orchestra, the state's only professional chamber orchestra.

Noted pianist Natalie Hinderas of Temple University will review "Women in 200 Years of Music" at 6:45 p.m. June 12, preceding the concert.

Sessions, workshops, the concert and special events will take place in WSU's McGregor Memorial Conference Center, the Student Center Building and the Rackham Educational Memorial Building.

All sessions are free except for the concert and meals. Guest speakers will be seated with registrants at dining tables to encourage continuing discussion of issues. Advance registration is recommended for all activities to ensure admittance and seating. Costs for special events, availability of child care centers and other information can be obtained by calling 577-3107 or 577-2782.

"Women in Politics: Influence versus Power" will be the focus of the opening session at 6:45 p.m. June 11. Speakers will be Miss Benson, who is a board member of the Brookings Institute, the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation and the National Urban League, and Rep. Brathwaite-Burke, who chaired the Congressional Black Caucus in 1975 and was vice-chairman of the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

"Health: New Bodies and New Souls" will be the subject of sessions from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 12. Among the speakers will be Barbara Ehrenreich and psychoanalyst Robert Seidenberg of Syracuse University, author of "Corporate Wives and Corporate Casualties." Concurrent labor sessions that day will explore women in the world of

Golf Day tickets available

Tickets currently are on sale for the seventh annual Charles G. Younglove Kidney Golf Day, sponsored by District 29 of the United Steelworkers of America.

The event, which has produced $15,000 to fight kidney disease in Michigan since 1970, will take place June 19 and 20 at Sunnybrook Motel, Bowling Lanes and Golf Course, 7191 East 17 Mile Road, Sterling Heights.

Harry E. Lester, Younglove golf committee chairman, said his group hopes to raise $40,000 from donations and the sale of golf and raffle tickets to steelworkers and the public throughout Michigan and northern Ohio.

About $25,000 will be used to underwrite a Kidney Foundation program to teach school children about the importance of blood pressure to their health. Another $10,000 will support Kidney Foundation research to study the relationship between blood pressure and the kidneys.

The remaining $5,000 will go to buy a fourth vacation kidney machine for free loan to home-trained kidney dialysis patients throughout the state.

Tickets for Golf Day cost $20 per person and include 18 holes of golf, a steak dinner and refreshments.

To purchase tickets or make a cash donation, Lester may be contacted by phone at 388-1300 or by letter at the United Steelworkers of America District 29 offices, 7000 Roosevelt, Allen Park, 48101.

Local Younglove Golf Committee members are Ray T. Block, Michael T. Grant, Christina McMahon, Harold McMillan, Helen Ray and Jeanne Holland, all of Westland, and Michael Bruning, of Wayne.

New Truck

George Simko (fourth from left), the "supervisor" of a crew of city employees who turned "one city's junk into a treasure" is flanked by some of the employees who aided him in his $225 quest to turn an ob-

Employees remake 'obsolete' vehicle

Several employees of the Romulus Department of Public Works (DPW), have joined a little community pride with their expertise to turn an "obsolete" vehicle into something valuable for the community.

The employees — George Simko, with the aid of Skip Overmeyer, Byron Ashley, Dave Wood, Rusty

Brown and Gary Kadua — joined forces, and put together 20 hours of labor and $225 in material to turn a "junk" vehicle into a small stake truck for the use of the DPW.

Cost of the new truck would have been $4,600 for the same purpose, and the old vehicle would have brought only $1,100 as a trade-in. So city estimates run upwards on $3,500 in savings by the employees.

Yack Center hosts Hungarian festival

The first annual Hungarian festival will be held June 11, 12 and 13 at the Benjamin F. Yack Recreation Center, 3131 Third Street, in Wyndotte.

Hours are from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. June 11, from 4 p.m. to 1 a.m. on June 12 and from 1 p.m. to midnight June 13. Admission to the festival, which is being sponsored by the Hungarian Social and Athletic Club of Detroit, is $1.50 per person, with children under 12 admitted free with an adult.

Entertainment will feature Lajos

Bodo and his Hungarian Orchestra on Friday, Frank Borisz and his orchestra on Saturday and Sandor Godla and his Hungarian Gypsies on Sunday evening.

The Carpathia Fol Dancers and Pesti Roszika, a Hungarian singer and entertainer, will also perform.

Hungarian foods at the festival will include stuffed cabbage, chicken paprikas and kalacs, kifli and palacsinta pastries. A wide variety of Hungarian wines also will be available.

work. Discussants include Miss Madar, past vicepresident of the United Auto Workers and president of the Coalition of Labor Union Women; Carmen Maymi, director of the Women's Bureau in the U.S. Department of Labor; Caroline Bird, author of several books on women including "Born Female"; and Francine Gordon of Stanford University, expert on barriers to working women.

The conference will resume at 9 a.m. June 13, with a discussion of education of American women and related topics. Florence Howe is joined by other authorities including Phyllis Chesler, advisory board member of the National Organization of Women and author of "Women and Madness" and "Women, Money and Power".

Concurrently that day sessions on legal rights will probe discrimination in credit, taxes, property rights, alimony and criminal laws. Participants include Kanowitz, law professor at the University of California and author of "Women and the Law", and Karen Galloway, attorney for JoAnn Little.

"God knows, I'd like to help, but..." But what?

Do you really think God will settle for that? If you can't do things alone, join with others at your local synagogue or church. Example: in Montana, one congregation was disturbed by the lack of adequate housing for senior citizens. Because of their concern, today there is a new non-profit home for them. The God we worship expects us to help our neighbors.

Start treating your brothers and sisters like brothers and sisters.

The Wonderful World of Cottage Cheese

Cottage cheese has been savored for centuries. In pioneer days it was made by the housewife (hence the name "cottage" cheese) to utilize the milk remaining after the cream had been skimmed for butter-making.

Contributing necessary nutrients with few calories, creamed cottage cheese is not only rich in protein but also provides important minerals and vitamins.

Cottage cheese is a delectable food in its own right and "goes well" with many foods, such as fruits and vegetables in salads. In cooking and baking it contributes to nutritional value as well as texture and flavor.

Here are nutritional values which may be helpful: one-half cup (4 ounces) creamed cottage cheese (4.2% fat) contains 130 calories. One-half cup (4 ounces) uncreamed cottage cheese (.3% fat) has 105 calories. Both of these measurements are made with the curds pressed down. The protein content of cottage cheese for four ounces is 17 grams.

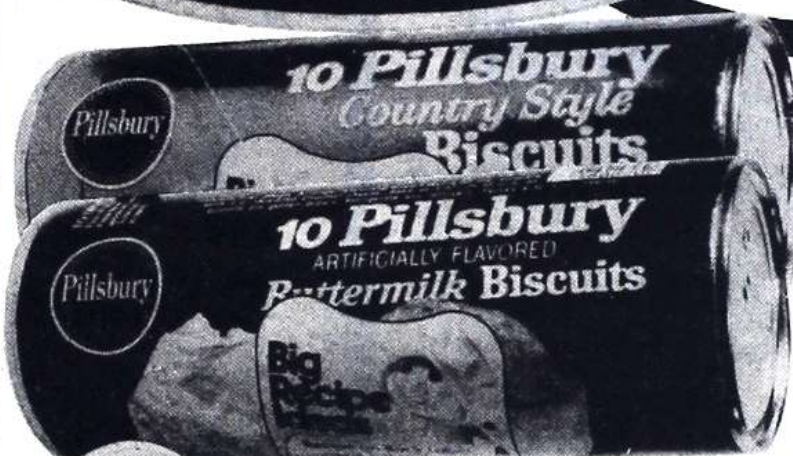

Store cottage cheese as you would fresh milk - refrigerated and covered. It should be used within a few days after purchase. Because it tends to separate upon defrosting, creamed cottage cheese should not be frozen.
